What is General Conference?

General Conference is the top policy-making body of the global United Methodist Church. It is the only body that can officially speak for the 13 million member denomination.

What goes on at General Conference?

Almost 1,000 delegates from around the world (including 14 from AWF) will revise the Book of Discipline, which regulates the manner in which local churches, annual conferences and general agencies are organized as well as sets policies regarding church membership, ordination, administration, property and judicial procedures. Delegates also revise the Book of Resolutions, a volume declaring the church's stance on a variety of social issues.

When and where is General Conference?

The General Conference meets only once every four years. The 2008 session will be April 23-May 2 in Fort Worth, Texas.
